At Still in Fashion, we obviously want you to be happy with your purchase. If you trade as a private person you have the right to cancel according to Swedish law and, as a buyer and consumer, you have a full right to return within 14 days from when you receive the good. If you want to use your right to cancel, you must notify Still in Fashion in writing within 24h of receiving the goods that you want to cancel/return your purchase by post or via the email address below, upon which you must return the good at your own cost within the 14 days period and you will be refunded as described in this point. Observe that the goods need to reach Still in Fashion within the 14 days period. If a good is returned that has been used and handled by the Buyer to a greater extent than would have been necessary to determine the good's features and function, the Buyer is liable for compensating Still in Fashion for any decrease in value that may have occurred. The extent of the decrease in value is determined solely by Still in Fashion. The right to cancel can be used by the Buyer provided that the good is returned together with the labels, locking devices, identification labels, packaging and any casing, information folders and certificate of authenticity that came with the good on delivery. The Buyer may, of course, try on the good to see if it fits. However, if the Buyer removes the identification label the right to cancel is lost immediately.

If the Buyer makes a complaint about a good due to considerable damage or defect, we will make an assessment and request you to return the good for inspection. In the event of considerable damage or defect, or if the good was in a considerably worse condition than the Buyer could have expected, the Buyer has the right to cancel the purchase or receive a corresponding reduction in the price. The Buyer will be refunded the full purchase price or a smaller amount after a fair valuation. Refunds are normally made within ten (10) working days from when Still in Fashion received and approved the complaint. If the complaint concerns the authenticity of the good, we will ask you to send us a written opinion from an independent and recognised expert.

All goods returned to Still in Fashion must be packaged carefully to prevent damage to the good. The Customer is liable for the transport risk and cost of returns to Still in Fashion.

Still in Fashion can only make refunds by the same method and to the same account as used to place the order.
